GRESHAM OPPOSED

Weaver Was the Covention's Choice From the First.

NOTHING NEW FROM HOMESTEAD

CYRUS FIELD STILL LIVING

AFTER THE FIGHT AT OMAHA. Weaver Was the Choice of the Vast Ma

Weaver Was the Choice of the Vast Majority of Delegates.

OMAHA, NEB., July 5.—The "old guard" has won and Gen. James B. Weaver of Iowa is the candidate of the people's party for President of the United States. For five days it has been manifest that of all the leaders of the new party Weaver was the choice of a vast majority, but the peculiar availability of Judge Gresham overshadowed his personality, and it was not until the distinguished jurist positively declined to be a candidate that the delegates turned to their own ranks and with almost one accord selected the veteran greenbacker as their standard bearer. There were some who feared his greenback predilections might affect his availability, and it was these gentlemen who brought Senator Kyle of South Dakota to the front, but the sentiment that one of the old guard should be selected to lead the party was overwhelming, and Weaver's triumph was finally most complete. Indeed the failure of the Gresham movement reacted promptly and powerfully in Weaver's favor.

The friends of the Iowan have contended for several days that those who persisted in booming Gresham after his practical refusal to be a candidate were actuated solely by a desire to defeat Weaver, and when the Gresham move-move and the from the second conference would be the greater surprise. Word reached the amalgamated people this morning that the Detroit spring steel works and the West Duluth Manufacturing Company had signed the scale.

The friends of the Iowan have contended for several days that those who persisted in booming Gresham after his practical refusal to be a candidate were actuated solely by a desire to defeat Weaver, and when the Gresham movement finally collapsed lent the color of truth to this assertion and made the waverers turn unanimously to Weaver. The candidacy was effective only in humiliating the South Dakota friends of the Senator. His own state delegation have always insisted that Kyle was not a candidate, and the Senator himself telegraphed candidate, and the Senator himself telegraphe that he did not desire his name to be presente that he did not desire his name to be presented to the convention.

Despite this, however, the anti-Weaver men, in the flush of the first ephemeral success, wired Kyle that he was the convention's choice and that harmony demanded his nomination, and thus finally succeeded in getting a statement from the Senator that if his nomination was demanded by the convention in the interest of harmony he supposed he could not decline. Upon this conditional, assent the anti-Weaver men placed Kyle in nomination and made a strenuous attempt to carry the convention, but even the eloquence of popular Bob Schilling was insufficient to stem the Weaver tide, which had been swelled by a sudden reaction in favor of the "old guard."

DELEGATES SLEPT LATE THIS MORNING. It was late this morning before any of the egates to the late convention appeared in the hotels or on the streets. Last night's protracted hotels or on the streets. Last night's protracted meeting had wearied them and they were making up for the lost sleep of the last few nights by lying in bed today. The proceedings of the closing session were exhausting.

The tide had been setting Weaver's way all the time, provided, of course, the Gresham business died out, as it did. Kyle was a candidate, but the Weaver people had the organization of the convention through Loucks and about all the effective workers. Weaver was for Gresham and really hoped that gentleman would be a candidate or accept the nomination. He was in earnest about it, too, and did his best to secure Gresham's name for the head of cure Gresham's name for the head of the ticket, but was disappointed. He could not get his man, but he did the next best thing and he got the nomination for himself. He was fought for a time by the silver states and curiously enough by Georgia for a time. After a while the silver states and Georgia got midnight, but the orators kept whacking away, not caring to finish up their work and adjourn.

At 2 o'clock the roll call was concluded and the voting began. Fields was an easy winner. His nomination, too, was made unanimous, and after a few perfunctory whoops the convention adjourned and went to bed.

cricket teams met yesterday at the Wanderers' ground, 37th street and Indiana avenue, to decide their claims to enter the contest for the intercity championship. As a result of the first day's play Chicago obtained a lead of seventy-three runs on the first inning, scoring the creditable sum of notches of 175 to 102, which represented Pitteburg's initial endeavor. A remarkable feature in the game was the stand made by Dougal and Wright at the close of the Chicago innings, the pair adding thirty-two runs before Dougal was given "leg before" on a somewhat doubtful decision. Cummings' 41 was a clean hit and well judged contribution. Play was resumed at 10:30 this morning.

MR. CLARKSON'S VIEW.

He Doesn't Think the Farwell Letter Caused Mr. Campbell to Decline.

NEW YORK, July 5.—James S. Clarkson was interviewed by a Commercial Advertiser reporter today at the Plaza Hotel and admitted having received a telegram from Mr. Payne of Wisconsin stating that Mr. Wm. J. Campbell would decline the chairmanship of the national republican committee. No reason for the declination was given. Gen. Clarkson does not think the Farwell letter had anything to do with it. He supposed Mr. Campbell could not afford to take the position and give up his Chicago business. He could not imagine how the telegram got into print. He has no idea now who would be selected as chairman. There was not the remotest possibility of his being induced to take the position himself.

TOO FREE WITH HIS VIEWS. Well-Known Citizen of Newark, N. J.,

NEWARK, N. J., July 5 .- Charles Mink, wr., of this city has received a letter from Ebling, wurtemburg, Germany, which states that Dr. Tragott Beck of Newark has been arrested by the German police for using language disre-spectful to the emperor. He is in prison and his friends are trying to have him released. Dr. Beck is well known in Newark. He is a pioneer German of this city and has been a citizen of the United States for forty years.

ALL QUIET AT HOMESTRAD. No Change in the Situation at the Locked-

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 5.—The lockout situsion at the steel works remains unchanged. There is no excitement manifest in any quarter. Deputy Sheriff Gray was here this morning sizing up the situation, but returned to Pittsburg without announcing his views or intentions. It is generally believed here that the sheriff will find it very difficult to secure deputies willing to serve in Homestead. Today a republican-democrat political club was organized with 1,000 members, who pledge their votes against "high tariff."

CAPT. BORUP'S CASE.

He Was Culpable in Allowing His Inform tion to Leak Out. LONDON, July 5.—The correspondent of the Times at Paris says: Some American friends here are vexed at my silence in the Borup affair, but it is difficult to form a decided opinion on the subject, and any outsider intervening in such a delicate affair is liable to displease all parties. A diplomat of the highest standing told me be would not like to have done such a thing. Capt. Borup, however, was entitled, even bound, to obtain documents for the benefit today. It was raining, and the attendance was much below the average. Those who braved the storm, however, displayed as much enthusiasm as usually prevails at the races. Fewer house boats than usual were present.

The heats began at noon, at which hour it was windy and the river was choppy. In the second heat of the race for the diamond sculls Oomans of Amsterdam beat V. Nickalls by six lengths.

Chicago and Pittsburg Playing for a Chance to Meet the Eastern Teams.

CHICAGO, July 5.—The Pittsburg and Chicago cricket teams met yesterday at the Wanderers ground, 37th street and Indiana avenue, to decide their claims to enter the contest for the intercity championship. As a result of the first day's play Chicago obtained a lead of text.

Atterwatter, Freder, in July 5.—The Missouri division of the L. A. W. is holding its seventh annual meeting in this city. A number of exciting races were run yesterday afternoon and in one, distance one mile, M. R. Warren of Kansas City, riding a safety, broke the record of this division, his time being 2.44½.

KINGSTON, ONT., July 5.—The twenty-five mile American road record was not lowered here on Saturday, as previously reported, for the reason that the Kingston road race course is not twenty-five miles. Some think it is not more than twenty-three miles. The time made, however, was probably the fastest ever made in a road race in Canada or in America. It is proposed to resurvey the course and establish a Canadian record for the distance. Attempting Fusion in Iowa.

DES MOINES, IOWA, July 5 .- An effort is being made to unite the democratic and peo-ple's parties in this state. The scheme is to give the people's party the electoral candi-dates and the democrats the state ticket. The matter has been brought up in Omaha in a quiet way. By combining it is urged the re-publicans can be defeated, which would help throw the election in the House and thereby elect Cleveland.

ENTHUSIASTIC INDIAN CONVERTS.

Proceedings of the Great Catholic Congress of Stoux.

Cheyenne Agency, S. D., July 5.—On Sunday the great Catholic Sioux congress opened with an attendance, an enthusiasm and a patriotism seldom excelled in civilized communities. Six thousand Sioux Indians came overland in wagons traveling distances varying from sixty to 660 miles. They are camped in two great tramps above and below the agency and within a mile of it. Primarily the congress is convoked by Bishop Marty to dedicate the new church and mission house erected here by Miss Drexel of Philadelphia and incidentally to celebrate the renewal of cordial relations between the Catholic Church and the Indian bureau.

Sunday exercises consisted of the dedication of new churches, at which Bishop Marty officiated and was assisted by five priests. A wedding and a confirmation service at the Episcopal Mission were the events of Monday.

All the famous chief are here, Grass and Gall, Little White Bull, Judge Swan, Chaska Caupa Mills of the corder is excellent and the 200 Indian police and colored infantry had nothing to do until evening, when a quantity of whisky having been smuggled into camp some of the bucks became turbulent and aroused the apprehension of the timid.

The first "whereas" of the preamble, reciting that never were laborers so prosperous and well paid, Mr. Berry declared to be conspicuously contrary to the facts and to be proof of a desperate effort to prop a falling cause. In contradiction of that "whereas" he sent to the clerk's deak and had read telegrams on the subject of the strike at Carnegie's Homestead works.

He cited figures to prove that the republican party believed in high taxes and extravagant appropriations, while the democratic party bewith he has even company did business.

yesterday. Encores were repeatedly demanded, and with an emphasis which made compliance the only course.

The program was in every way an artistic treat and the patrictic aspect of the occasion was brought out strongly and gracefully. The program opened with Haydn's "The Henvens Are Telling," by the Chautanqua chorus, the soloists being Miss C. M. Howes, soprano; Mr. Glen Medairy, tenor, and Mr. C. F. Goodchild, basso. Mrs. Louise V. Sheldon sang "Bel Paggio," from "Semiramide," and "The Russian Nightingale," by Alabieff, and on an encore "Within a Mile of Edinboro' Town." Signor Vitale played a capprictose by Gluck and "Recollections of a Soldier," and on encores "Annie Laurie" and "The Mocking Bird." The other soloists displayed the same happy faculty of stepping from the classical composition to the popular melody, and it was throughout in which artistic dignity was maintained without any sacrifice of enjoyment. Mr. Hanford recited "The Star Spanged Banner," "Marmion and Douglas" and selections from Shakespeare, and in every instance commanded the enthusiastic appreciation of his hearers. The recitations of "The Declaration of Independence" and "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," by Marie A. N. Pollard, were timely features and were greatly enjoyed.
